Tours & Cruises

CALIFORNIA Spend the winter on America's Riviera. It offers you balmy weather, splendid scenery, luxurious hotels, delightful outdoor life. Our tours stay at the great resorts—Riverside, Pasadena, Coronado, Santa Barbara, Del Monte—they also visit New Orleans, Colorado, the Grand Canyon, the Apache Trail and San Francisco. Six special tours include Hawasi, "the Paradise of the Pacific." Departures, December 15, January 4, 9; and twice, a week through the winter.

WEST INDIES-HAWAII CRUISE: A new and delighted over an unusual route, through two oceans, on the splendid S.S. "Hawkeye State" (Matson Navigation Co.) It visits Hawana, San Juan, Port Antonio, Kingston, and St. Thomas in the West Indies, sails through the great Panama Canal and up the coast of Mexico and California to San Francisco, then crosses the Pacific for a week in Hawaii. Sailing February 11, 1922, Rates $750 and upward.

MEDITERRANEAN CRUISE. Foremost of the winter travel opportunities, pre-eminent in its route and the perfection of its ship, the great liner "George Washington" (United States Lines). Its 64-day itinerary is remarkably comprehensive including such unusual places as the Azores, Corfu, Catarro in Jugo Slavia, and Corsica, visited on no other Mediterranean Cruise as well as the famous lands and great cities, Cadis, Algiers, Naples, Athens, Constantinople and the Holy Land, Egypt and Cairo, etc. Sailing, Pebruary 14, 1922. Rates $625 and upward.

Other tours to Plorida, Burope, South America, Japan-China, Egypt and the Holy Land, Arabian Nights Africa, Round the World.

Why Americans now go to Europe on American Ships

AMERICANS who have crossed the Atlantic on U.S. Government ships give three reasons for preferring them. They find the comforts they are accustomed to find in the finest American hotels; American food, prepared by chefs who know how to cook for Americans; and American companions.

Hotel Comforts at Sea On your way to Europe now you may have the comforts and the luxuries of the finest clubs, the finest hotels, and the finest homes. The accommodations of the S. S. George Washington, flagabip of the fleet, are surpassed nowhere on the seas.

Amid the quiet luxury and beauty of this great ship a thousand unobtrusive comforts anticipate the travellers every wish. The staterooms are large and beautifully decorated. They have delighted hundreds of American society women. Most of the staterooms have private baths; all have telephones that put friends and servants ever at your call. Elevators carry you from deck to deck. The social roems are magnificent. They are panelled with fare woods and furnished with luxurious upholstered forniture that invites relaxation. In cold wather the panel of the servant of the s cold weather the broad promenade is enclosed with glass. There is a fully equipped gymnasium for those who wish to keep up regular exercise during the voyage. American Cuisine

Many Americans who have travelled on American ships say the cuisine has set a new standard. It is particularly satisfying to Americans because American dishes are served. The chefs who prepare it know how to cook for Americans. The cuisine of the S.S. George Washington has became famous. American Companions

American ships are the natural places for Americans to meet each other when travelling. American tastes are similar. If you will scan the passenger lists you will find the names of Americans from all over the 48 states; officers of the Army and Navy, other Government officials, known to every schoolboy, and social leaders from every section. They selected American ships because there they found American comforts, American food, the American environment, and their friends.

when you go to Europe, you too will prefer an American ship—a ship of which you own a part. And it will be a source of pride to know that your passage money is helping to build the American Merchant Marine. he next sailings a.
